DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

This final Office action is in response to the amendment filed 5 October 2010.
 Claims 1-25 are pending. All objections and rejections not repeated below are withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

- 2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
 - The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.
- 3. Claims 1-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Per claim 1, the claim recites "the accesses form a stream-type sequential access pattern having a direction that is tracked by setting bits in a bit vector". This limitation is not adequately described in the specification. In the specification, on page 11, lines 10-21, it is disclosed that the indicators 500-503 are set to logical one when a corresponding cache line is accessed. A pattern of indicator values shown in Figure 5 can be recognized as a stream-type access, or a sequential incrementing access, while a pattern of indicator values shown in Figure 6 can be recognized as sequential decrementing stream-type access. However, the specification does not disclose tracking a direction of access pattern, because incrementing/decrementing sequential access patterns are just patterns, not directions of patterns. The specification does not disclose a particular "direction" variable being tracked and controlled by the claimed bit vector, which only serves to record logical ones for corresponding cachelines that have been accessed. The bits of the bit vector do not represent a direction because the bit vector does not contain any information related to the sequential ordering of the times when each bit was set to logical one. Therefore, it is clear that the limitation in question is not adequately supported by the applicant's written disclosure.

Per claims 9, 18 and 22, each claim teaches a sequential access pattern comprising an order that is tracked by setting bits in a bit vector. This limitation is not adequately supported for similar reasons as set forth above in the rejection of claim 1. Furthermore, even though Figure 2 and specification in page 9, lines 4-17 teach streamtype access patterns tracked by the bit vectors, there is no support for tracking orders of the access patterns. To do so would require the means to indicate which access was first performed, second performed, and so on. The specification does not disclose anything that would resemble such means. The bit vectors only indicate which cache lines are accessed by setting the corresponding bit values to logical one, but the bit vectors per se do not possess the capabilities to track the order of cacheline accesses.

All dependent claims are rejected for having the same deficiencies contained in the claims they are dependent from.

Response to Arguments

 Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-25 have been fully considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection set forth above.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
